

Games Y'all is a monthly event in Austin, TX which celebrates and amplifies the unique and underrepresented within indie games and beyond. We are on a mission to support and share diverse video game development from Austin and around the world.

Now we're thrilled to announce our first ever Games Y'all Round-Up: an even bigger and better celebration of indie gaming, featuring a curated selection of local and international titles, with live music from Videogame Music and Nerdcore artists. Expect discovery, celebration, and surprises—an opportunity for sponsors to be seen as key supporters of the community and helping to shape the future of indie gaming as a whole.

The Games Y'all Round-Up is the ultimate celebration of a year of indie games, taking place on November 15th, 2025, at Kick Butt Coffee, immediately following our biggest Games Y'all meetup of the year at Highland Collective. As a sponsor, you're not just supporting a single event—you're helping us sustain and grow Games Y'all as a thriving community for indie creators and fans all year long. With your support, we can continue to showcase incredible games, provide valuable networking and mentorship opportunities, and create spaces where developers from all backgrounds can share their work.

Over The Last Four Years We've:

- Shown over 250 games from underrepresented creators
- Held dozens of events, in collaboration with local libraries, professional organizations, and cultural festivals
- Put on Fantastic Arcade: Fun Size Edition (2024) and Fantastic Arcade Retrospective (2019) in collaboration with The Museum of Human Achievement
- Created countless mentorship and networking opportunities for students and emerging indie developers
- Built a passionate community of developers, fans, and friends from all over the world
